INVITATION

30th Congress of the INEPS

“Productive Learning – facilitating the transition to the world of work”

16th to 20th April 2018

Leipzig and Dresden, Germany

Dear Madam, dear Sir, dear colleagues and friends, on behalf of the teachers offering Productive Learning in eight schools in Saxony, on behalf of the International Network of Productive Learning Projects and Schools (INEPS) and on behalf of the Institute for Productive Learning in Europe (IPLE) we invite you to participate in the 30th Congress of INEPS, which will take place from 16th to 20th of April 2018 in Leipzig and Dresden.

At the age of five or six years children are sent to school: a protected environment dedicated to general education. The older they grow, the more school has to open; it has to encourage social participation and the taking of responsibility in different spheres of our society. One of these spheres is the “world of work”.

Work is more than a precondition for an economically “independent life”. It’s a chance to realize ones dreams, to participate “productively” in the society, to gain experience and respect and to continue learning and personal growth. Respectively school education has to facilitate well founded orientation, sustainable decisions and successful transitions to work – for almost all students. An intolerable share of young people tumble or fail at the transition from school to work all over Europe: after school they do not continue with vocational training or an apprenticeship or they “drop out” before completing it. This bears high risks for the individual and the society as a whole.

Productive Learning is an alternative school program in the final years of general education and at the threshold to vocational training. The tight “linkage” to the world of work is a significant characteristic of the educational approach. The conference addresses crucial topics of the curriculum and methodology:

- How do projects of Productive Learning gain partners and develop the cooperation with companies and institutions to allow “Learning in Practice” for the students?
- Which instruments and methods proved to foster well founded orientation and sustainable decisions on the side of the students?
- How can learning in school help the students prepare for the specific demands of the vocational training they want to go for?
- What kind of barriers and difficulties have to be handled and how?

The conference will offer key speeches addressing important aspects of the topic as well as workshops and discussion groups to work on chosen topics in depth. The schools in Saxony will open their doors for participants to take part in everyday work, to visit students at their learning sites in the city and to discuss with students and educators in the “learning workshop” in school. In the frame of excursions the participants will also get the opportunity to discuss with important co-operation partners as companies offering apprenticeship, partner institutions in youth-work or the University of Dresden.
