

The White Horse Theatre at our school

Last Friday was a special day for some students of forms 5 – 7. The White Horse Theatre, a group of four British actors, performed My cousin Charles in our assembly hall.

In the play Dottie's cousin Charles visits Dottie and her mum. The problem is: Dottie and Charles hate each other!

One day, when Dottie's mum makes them play football together, the ball breaks the window of the grumpy neighbour who hates children. Dottie and Charles try to mend the window. As they do so, many other little accidents happen to them. For example they drop paint onto the carpet and when trying to remove it they tear the carpet into pieces.

In the end they have to pay for all the damage, but they have become friends and Dottie's mum and the grumpy neighbour too.

I enjoyed the theatre performance very much. The actors performed well, their English was easy to understand and the play was very funny. Moreover we could ask questions at the end to „try“ our English. I hope they will come again next year!
