3 ○ The baby cat (Conditional sentences 1)

Dan and Jo have found a baby cat in a field near their home. They are now talking about what they can do. Match the sentence parts.

1 If we take her with us,	a) Mum won't be happy.
2 And if we keep her,	b) her mother won't find her.
3 But the baby cat won't survive	c) if we leave her here in the field.
4 She will perhaps survive	d) if we keep her warm.

5 If we give her some milk,	e) they will help us!
6 Well, but she will get ill	f) if she drinks milk. Milk is bad for her.
7 OK, but if we don't do anything,	g) she won't be hungry.
8 What about the RSPCA? If we call them,	h) we will feel very bad.

Now you

Write three things you will do if you find a baby cat.

1) If I find a baby cat, I will keep it warm.

2) If I find a baby cat, I will give it food for young cats.

3) If I find a baby cat, I will call an animal shelter. (=Tierheim)
